appears. The best of feeling was displayed by the several authorities present at the gathering, and the proceedings passed off with the utmost ease.

The States General of Holland were opened yesterday. The Speech from the Throne mentions, in effect, the foreign relations of the country are in a satisfactory condition, and recommends that measures should be taken for reorganizing the army and reforming the present system of taxation.

The death is announced of Mr. George Alexander Hamilton, who for many years presided over the University of Dublin in the house of Commons, in his 70th year. He was Financial Secretary to the Treasury in Lord Derby's Administration of 1859 and 1860, and became Permanent Secretary to the Treasury in 1863, when he retired from Parliament.

Two men named Murphy and Clayton were convicted yesterday at the Middlesex Sessions of stealing 20 bottles of wine from a case, which it is presumed they had broken open, in the mansion of the Earl of Strathmore. They were employed as painters' labourers, and although in the more felonious way of life, they were of the branch of confidence, and although Clayton had previously been convicted at the Old Bailey for stealing, they escaped with almost nominal punishment. The Judge sentenced Murphy to four months and Clayton to nine months hard labour.

At a meeting of the Central Non-Confession Committee, held at Birmingham, the schemes which have been proposed by the several Commissioners were considered, and the principles of religious equality, and it was resolved to support an agitation against them. The prices won by the English competitors in the Anglo-Belgian contest at the Wimbledon Volunteer meeting last July were distributed on Saturday by Mrs. Colonel Chambers, who gave a garden party at Putney-house in honour of the occasion.

A case of baby farming has been brought to light in Clarendon. A corner's wife has returned a verdict of manslaughter against James Anderson, the mother, and Cecilia Barker, who had charge of the child. The mother was sentenced to six months, and the child's mother to six months.

A public meeting, at which 2,000 persons are said to have been present, was held at Blackheath, on Saturday evening, to raise subscriptions to defend Mr. Funnell, who is being prosecuted for an alleged libel in the Illustrated between Liverpool and Glasgow.

Two collisions at sea are reported. In one the brigantine Arca was run down while at anchor in Montevideo Bay, Cornwall, by the French clipper Syria. In the other case the yacht Phaeta was run down by the steamship Albatross between Liverpool and Glasgow.

A quantity of military stores were consumed by the de-Clancher on Saturday morning. At a recent meeting at Newcastle, county Antrim, the Rev. H. Henderson stated that Mr. Drennan has consented to allow his name to be given to the Salford Orange Lodge.

Mr. Baynes, a clerk, of North-west London, was fined £5 on Saturday at the Clerkenwell Police Court for selling a small quantity of orange acid, labelled "essence of nitrate of ammonia."

There was a night sitting of the French Assembly on Saturday, which lasted until 1 o'clock yesterday morning, to take into consideration the proposed commercial convention with Germany respecting Alsace and Lorraine. Mr. Thiers defended the convention, and concluded on the ground that it was of primary importance to put an end to the foreign occupation of the country. Ultimately the House passed the treaty by 383 votes against 31.

By the terms of the convention the manufactures of Alsace and Lorraine will be admitted duty free into France until the last day of December next. From the 1st of January, 1872, to the 1st of July, 1873, they will be admitted at quarter rates of duty, and from the latter date until the 1st of July, 1874, at half rates. French manufacturers will be allowed to enter Alsace and Lorraine on the same terms. In exchange for the concession, Germany undertakes to at once evacuate all German garrisons, viz. the Alsace, the Aube, the Oise d'Or, the Haute-Saône, the Doubs, and the Jura, and to reduce the army of occupation in France from 50,000 to 50,000, at which strength it is to remain until the whole of the war indemnity is paid.

Further and numerous captures of Communists, together with their accomplices, are reported from Paris. A pamphlet, published by the Franco-Prussian war at the door of the Opposition under the Empire having been lately circulated among the soldiers in barracks, in order to incite them to desert, and to employ, from Lyons, and other provincial towns, we learn that the disarming of the National Guard, and the occupation by the regular troops of the posts assigned to the former, is proceeding quietly and satisfactorily.

The Emperor of the French reached Madrid on Friday morning, but immediately left for Carabanchel, the residence of the Countess de Montijo.

The scheme for the reorganization of the Swedish army has not met with the most favorable reception in the Diet, for whilst the committee on the bill in the Upper House are supporters of the Government proposition, the Lower House has nominated a committee opposed to it by the large majority of 108 to 69.

The opening of the Tunnel has been celebrated by a grand banquet to upwards of a thousand guests of the Municipality and Bank of Turin. Besides the Italian Ministers and several members of the Italian Parliament, France, Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. The health of the Ro Galantissimo was given and warmly responded to, and M. de Bismarck, speaking for France, in a noteworthy manner, alluded to the tunnel as the symbol of the union of Turin, and the cradle of Italian revival. Finally, his Excellency, in the name of the French Republic, toasted the independence of nations, and Liberty, and a noteworthy fact also that before separating the assembly drank to the memory of modern Italy's greatest man, Count Cavour.

A small Russian squadron, under the command of Vice-Admiral Rozhitzkiy, and the Grand Duke Alexis on board the flag ship, passed down Chinnel yesterday morning, and subsequently steamed into Falmouth for the purpose of coaling. The squadron left Copenhagen on the 8th instant, and is bound for New York.

The Court Circular states that the Queen was not well enough to attend Divine service on Sunday.

The military manoeuvres in Hampshire reached their culminating point yesterday, but some days will yet elapse before the troops return to their accustomed quarters again, and the railways on either side of the Channel are immersed in their ordinary activity and confusion. The troops are admitted on all bands to have been admirably, often being twelve and sometimes sixteen hours without food, and yet performing all the duties of the day, and in the field with a splendid dash and a thoroughly English endurance. The spectacle from every point was remarkably grand. On Thursday there will be a grand review of the troops. The death of Dr. John, formerly Principal of King's College, London, is announced. The deceased, who was in his 73rd year, was canon of Christ Church, Oxford, and sat for that diocese in Convocation.

A Court-martial has been ordered to inquire into the stranding of H.M.S. Zeeuw.

A deserter from one of the corps engaged in the autumn manoeuvres, named David Laughlin, belonging to the 10th Regiment, has been brought before Mr. Lascelles, a magistrate at Farnham, and ordered to be sent to Alford, where he will be tried by court-martial.

An application against the authorities of the Hampshire Smallpox Hospital for a license to produce the child Elizabeth Belter, who had been a patient in the hospital, but who was unfortunately missing, was heard before Mr. Justice Brett in the County Court, and was ordered to stand over for the production of affidavits to rebut an allegation that she had been removed to a convent. The inquiry ordered by the Local Government into the alleged abuse in this hospital will commence to-morrow.

A man named William Hall has been committed for trial on William Hall as a charge of the manslaughter of his father.

Last week the aggregate mortality in London and 16 other large towns of the United Kingdom was at the rate of 28 deaths annually to every 1,000 persons living. In London, 2,211 births and 1,222 deaths were registered, the births being 58, and the deaths 55 above the average. The deaths in London exceeded 87 from small pox, the average of six previous years having been 64. The deaths from diseases of the zymotic class were 665, and the deaths from 665, 51, and 424 in the three preceding weeks.

The mean temperature during the six weeks ending Saturday last was 64 deg. 3 min., showing an average daily excess of 4 deg. 5 min. upon the corresponding period in 50 years.

The settlement of the details of the Convention between France and Germany relative to the commercial relations between the former country and Alsace and Lorraine has been delayed in consequence of the indisposition of Baron Armin.

The formal surrender of the Paris forts is to take place this morning, and the evacuation by the Germans of the provinces is being carried out without any difficulty.

Apropos of the debate upon the Franco-German Commercial Treaty, the Moniteur Universel says: "There was only one weak point in M. Thiers's speech, that is, when he confessed that the commercial concession made to Germany was not the sole price of the evacuation of the departments, but that to replace the territorial guarantee the French Government had furnished the Germans with drafts (non-negotiable) signed by all the great bank-houses and falling due on the 1st of January, 1872. M. Thiers's Moniteur says: 'The drafts have been with us for some time, but we should not treat as foreigners the inhabitants of Alsace and Lorraine; and besides, when we consider that their principal industry was threatened with complete ruin in consequence of the blockade having continued work during the war in order not to leave their workmen destitute, we must certainly confess we have merely accomplished our duty in the granting the sale of the manufactured goods thus accumulated.'

The King of Spain remains at Barcelona. On Monday he visited the naval squadron in the port, and was present at a ball given on board the iron-clad Alfonso. Yesterday he was visiting various public institutions, and laying the foundation stone of a new school, he attended a performance at the theatre.

Prince Bismarck has returned from Munich to Berlin. The Gariboldi movements in Spain are said to have ceased. Don Carlos has been ordered by the French Government to leave Bayonne.

During the week ending September 17, the fatal cases of cholera in Königsberg exceeded those of any previous week. The death-rate rose from 50 to 60 to 70 to 80 per thousand. According to the latest official returns received by Berlin, the number of persons attacked at the outbreak in the Baltic provinces of Prussia up to the 10th instant was 2,517 civilians and 84 soldiers, of whom 1,373 died, 620 recovered, and 89 remained under treatment.
